

MEXICO RESENTS SOVIET 'UNFRIENDLINESS'

FIRST SOVIET LEGATION IN WEST ORDERED CLOSED

MEXICO SEVERES DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH RUSSIAN SOVIET

MEXICANS DECLARE IT IMPOSSIBLE TO CONTINUE POLICY OF TOLERANCE

By JOHN W. NORRIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Mexico City, Jan. 24.—The first Soviet legation in the western hemisphere was closed today and interest was centered in the reaction from Moscow to Mexico's severance of diplomatic relations with Russia.

The summary announcement that the recent recurrence of communists' attacks on Mexican embassies in Washington, Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro had forced the government to close its legation in Moscow and formally break off diplomatic relations caused a flurry in the capital.

The Mexican government declared, however, that the attacks as well as other manifestations of unfriendliness toward Mexico has made it impossible to continue its policy of tolerance.

Foreign Minister Genaro Estrada, in an official statement said:

"The Mexican government knows perfectly well the propaganda against our institutions and the national revolution has been prepared and directed from Russia.

"It is also known that communist groups (directing propaganda) did not work independently because every political organization in that country is subject to the Soviet government."

Estrada announced the Mexican legation in Moscow already had been closed and that only one secretary had been left to guard the archives.

The foreign minister declined to say whether any action was contemplated regarding the passports of the Russian minister, Dr. Alexander Makar, assuming the latter fails to depart voluntarily. Mr. Makar declined to comment as to his plans.

The official statement declared the Mexican government had attempted always to maintain friendly relations toward the Soviet but that this was unreciprocated by Russia.

The Soviet agents, it asserts, "placed difficulties in the way of our nationals, disseminated political propaganda among our citizens and foreigners in Mexico and committed other acts of discourtesy and insolence."

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Dr. Henry J. Shireson, self-styled purveyor of beauty who boasted that he reduced Peaches Browning's legs to stage size, has been found guilty of fraud, character unbecoming a physician and gross malpractice by a state medical committee.

The plastic surgeon faces revocation of his Illinois license upon affirmation of the findings by the director of the state bureau of registration and education.

The committee, made up of Dr. M. L. Harris, president of the American Medical association, and four other physicians, found Shireson guilty of all charges, which included malpractice in the case of Miss Sayde Holland, who lost both legs after an operation by Shireson for cure of bow legs.

HANDCUFFED 'TRIGGER WOMAN' HOME BOUND

Chicago, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Handcuffed to Lieut. Tom Fenton of the Pennsylvania state police, Irene Schroeder spent 25 minutes in Chicago today leaving behind the conviction among police and newspapermen that "she's plenty smart."

She and Glenn Dague, her sweetheart, are being returned to Pennsylvania to face charges of murder in connection with the killing of a state police officer at Newcastle, Pa. They arrived here at 5 a. m. from Phoenix Ariz., near where they were captured in a gun battle with a posse, and resumed their journey eastward at 8:25 a. m.

RACE RIOTS SWEEP SAN JOSE IN CALIFORNIA

San Jose, Calif., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Race riots swept San Jose today. Alfred Johnson, 22, was stabbed twice in the back by a gang of Filipinos. He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

Four Filipinos were beaten severely in retaliation. They were Pedro Ventura, Leonard Santiago, Vincent Sabio and Denny Chavriano.

Two St. Paul Men to be Questioned by Authorities

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Thomas Dahl, chief of police, today said Robert Godfrey and Paul Huber, both of St. Paul, will be returned here from Decatur, Ia., for questioning about two oil station robberies. Dahl was advised today that Decatur authorities were holding Godfrey and Huber.

AUTO ACCIDENT 'DEATHS INCREASE IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Automobile accident deaths in Minnesota have increased 45 per cent in the past three years, Frank W. Matson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner and president of the Minnesota Safety council, said in a report issued today.

Tentative figures released by Matson showed that 535 persons died as a result of automobile accidents in 1929, compared with 425 in 1928 and 369 in 1927. An average of one death for every 1,308 automobiles operated in the state was reported.

Matson said a study of motor vehicle mishaps in recent years reveals the number of fatalities is increasing faster in rural districts than in the cities.

DRIEST MAN IN WORLD IS SENATOR MORRIS SHEPPARD

TEXAS DEMOCRAT IS AUTHOR OF THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

CHAMPION OF BILL TO MAKE BUYER AND SELLER OF LIQUOR EQUALLY GUILTY

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—The driest man in the world is Senator Morris Sheppard, the Texas democrat, author of the eighteenth amendment, champion of a pending bill to make the buyer of liquor equally guilty with the bootlegger and a central figure in the present prohibition reform controversy.

Sheppard hates liquor. He hates wines. He hates anyone who likes them. He looks upon alcohol as a poison or a drug and he was the first public official to take the leadership for prohibition in 1910 because he looked upon it as a health measure.

Fresh from Yale in 1898 when beer mugs were prominent educational accoutrements, Sheppard came to congress as secretary to his father, a Texas representative. He never owned a Yale mug and he never drank at Yale.

His first demand for prohibition was in a public letter sent to a friend in Texas in 1911 recommending a state prohibition law. The letter did not have much effect because the law was defeated at that time by 5,000 majority. However, he took up the cause and ran for senate in 1912 on a platform for "state-wide prohibition, nationwide prohibition and world-wide prohibition." He soon came to the realization of the first two planks in his three-plank platform.

A. J. OLSON HEADS MINNESOTA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

HE WAS RE-ELECTED YESTERDAY AT FINAL SESSION OF CONVENTION

D. W. MENDENHALL, OF MAPLE PLAINS, VICE PRESIDENT, OTHERS RE-ELECTED

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—A. J. Olson, Renville, today headed the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. He was re-elected yesterday at the final session of the annual convention.

D. W. Mendenhall, former president of the Hennepin county farm bureau at Maple Plains, was elected first vice-president. Formerly a county agent in Montana, Mendenhall is field man for the Hennepin county farm bureau. He succeeds Hagbarth Bue, Northfield, retiring vice-president.

All the other officers were re-elected. They were H. M. Green, Lake Crystal, second vice-president, and G. W. Greenman, Zumbrota, and J. W. Stevenson, Winnebago, who were re-elected to the executive board for three years.

2 BANDITS WITH MACHINE GUN HOLD UP BANK

Dayton, O., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Two bandits, one armed with a small machine gun and the other with a shotgun, held up the South Park Savings bank shortly after it opened for business today and escaped with loot estimated at $16,000.

British Whaler Offered as Aid to Byrd in Antarctic if Slush Ice Is Not too Thick

OWNERS HAVE INFORMED ENVOY DAWES IN LONDON

THEY HAVE STEEL SHIP WHICH, HOWEVER, IS NOT AN ICE BREAKER

2 NORWEGIAN VESSELS WENT INTO ROSS SEA MORE THAN A MONTH AGO

Washington, Jan. 24.—Owners of the British whaler, Southern Princess, suggested by the state department as a possible relief vessel for the Byrd expedition in Antarctica, have informed Ambassador Dawes in London they are willing to assist Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd if it is compatible with the safety of their ship.

The company said the Southern Princess, a steel ship with reinforced steel bows, is not an ice-breaker and could not be safely navigated in more than two or three inches of ice.

A cable from Dawes today outlined the company's reply to Acting Secretary of State Cotton's message requesting emergency assistance for the Byrd party.

Owners of the Southern Princess in England said their ship, the two Byrd supply vessels and one or two Norwegian ships, are outside the Ross sea waiting to get through the ice barrier.

Two Norwegian vessels were said to have found passage into the Ross sea more than a month ago but no vessel since had been able to get through.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Responses were awaited today to appeals sent by the state department to Norway and Great Britain to request whaling ships in the Antarctica to go to the rescue of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and 39 companions who are locked behind 300 miles of pack ice.

The requests for aid for the explorers were dispatched after representatives were made to the state department that Byrd fears his own ships will not be able to get through the ice and that he doubts several members of the expedition could survive another year in the Antarctica.

Capt. H. H. Railey, Byrd's personal representative in New York, said, however, that he did not believe the expedition was in immediate danger. "Admiral Byrd's present position is exactly that of a cool, wise commander taking preliminary precautions for the safety of a numerous and important expedition," Railey said.

"While it is true that the expedition is not fully equipped to spend another winter in the Antarctica, there is no immediate shortage of the food supply. There is ample fuel for heat and for the operation of the radio. The men are not on reduced rations. There is no immediate prospect that they will be. They are well clothed, comfortably housed."

The urgent messages sent by the state department to the American legation at Oslo, Norway, however, asserted that Byrd's food supply was "virtually exhausted" and stressed that relief operations should get under way before February 5, as the Antarctic summer is already waning.

CHARLES CHAPLIN MAY APPEAR IN A TALKIE SOON

New York, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Charles Chaplin, one of the few remaining silent stars in motion pictures, may appear in a talking picture version of the play "Joseph Suss," an adaptation of Lion Feuchtwanger's novel "Power."

This was revealed by Arthur Kelly, vice president of the United Artists corporation, who said that Chaplin is anxious to act a serious role in the talkies but wants to keep his characterization of a ragged tramp, moustache, cane and all, in the silent movies.

20 MISSOURI CO-EDS FLEE FROM FIRE IN THEIR PAJAMAS

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 24.—Twenty University of Missouri co-eds fled in their pajamas to the snow covered street and chilly outdoors early today when fire gutted a three story rooming house here.

They narrowly escaped the flames which had gained considerable headway before the fire was discovered. The young women were said to have lost most of their clothes in the blaze.

FOUR CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH, TWO OTHERS HURT

6 OTHERS ESCAPE UNINJURED IN FIRE AT FARM HOME NEAR OTWAY, OHIO

FIRE BROKE OUT AT LAWRENCE PERRY'S HOME WHEN THE FAMILY WAS ASLEEP

Otway, O., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Four children were burned to death, two others were injured when they jumped from a second-floor window and six others escaped unhurt when fire swept the Lawrence Perry farm home near here today.

The fire broke out while the 12 children and their father and mother were sleeping. An overheated stove on the first floor of the frame house was believed responsible.

Those burned to death were Raymond, 16; Elsie, 10; Elmer, 8, and Bessie, 6.

Melvin, 20, and Arthur, 15, aroused in time to escape the flames, jumped from a second-floor window and the former was injured probably fatally. Arthur suffered a broken ankle.

Perry, meantime, had been aroused and braving the flames, carried Malissa, 13, and Martha, 7, to safety. Both girls were slightly burned.

Mrs. Perry rescued ten-month-old Vernon and three-month-old Oliver while Russell, 23, and Ralph, 18, managed to reach the outdoors.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry were downstairs when the fire started. Raymond, Elsie, Elmer and Bessie, sleeping in a rear upstairs room were hopelessly trapped.

Near zero weather prevailed and Perry rose early this morning and stoked the fire, after which he retired again.

The flames were beyond control when Perry awoke and it appeared for a time that all the children on the second floor would perish.

DOG TEAM RACES THROUGH BLIZZARD TO SAVE MINER

Grangeville, Ida., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Into the teeth of a northern Idaho blizzard today raced a dog sled against death that threatens the life of Fred Burke, a miner, who lies critically ill with blood poisoning in a lonely cabin at Copper King mine.

Ten sturdy, fast Irish setters pulled the sled over trails piled high with snowdrifts as Sumner Stonebreaker, veteran driver, urged them on their dash across glacial terrain.

With Stonebreaker were Dr. J. P. Weber, Lee Pettibone, guide, and the superintendent of the Copper King mine. They left late Thursday with medical supplies from Elk City after heavy storms delayed them several hours.

APARTMENT LIFE CUTS INTO HOME LIFE OF AMERICA

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—C. E. Stedman, Chicago, chairman of President Hoover's industrial survey conference in the building division, told the Northwestern Lumbermen's association that apartment life had robbed American homes of many older advantages and enjoyments.

He said that roadsters on the highways had been received for the sacrifice of a home. He told the lumbermen to dispell the "illusion of false and unending pleasures."

MAY LEAD WAY TO NEW TYPE OF TALKING PICTURES

RADIO BROADCASTING AND SILENT MOVING PICTURES TO BE COMBINED

RADIO STATION KSTP TO BROADCAST SOUND VERSION OF A MOVING PICTURE

By HILLIER KRIEGHBAUM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.—Radio broadcasting and silent moving pictures will be combined today in an experiment which may point the way to a new type of talking pictures.

Radio station KSTP will broadcast the sound version of a moving picture late this afternoon while radio engineers pick up the waves at the United States Veterans' Bureau hospital here to synchronize them with a silent picture.

Photophone engineers said that the experiment would be the first whereby radio and talking pictures had been linked. They said that if the experiments were successful, it might be possible to take talking pictures to many places where installation of "talkie" equipment was impossible.

According to the plan, a line will operate direct from a local theater to the broadcasting station, where the sound will be broadcast starting at 3:40 P. M. a powerful receiver has been installed at the hospital auditorium.

Engineers at the hospital will regulate the speed of the silent picture to harmonize with the moving picture on the hospital screen.

MAC DONALD IN AN ADDRESS ON WORLD PEACE

FOLLOWED BY PREMIER ANDRE TARDIEU SPEAKING AT LONDON'S GUILD HALL

SIR WILLIAM WATERLOO, LORD MAYOR, WAS HOST TO THE PLENIPOTENTIARIES

London, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—In London's ancient Guild Hall, for centuries the center of the commercial world, Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald and Premier Andre Tardieu of France brought home to a brilliant audience last night the practical, commercial and political wisdom of world peace.

Sir William Waterloo, London's lord mayor, was host to the plenipotentiaries, and the banquet speakers were the British and French leaders.

The dinner reached its significant climax in the picturesque passing of the loving cup—a huge golden goblet filled with sack—which went the rounds of the diners, from lip to lip, as an acknowledgement of international friendliness and good will. Incidentally, it was noticeable that few, if any of those who "quaffed" the cup actually drank any of its contents.

SECY. STIMSON MAKES STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

FRENCH AND BRITISH MEET TO CONSIDER REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS

STIMSON TO PROVIDE FOR THE AMERICAN PRESS REPRESENTATIVES AT MEETINGS

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Jan. 24.—Progress of the naval conference has been very satisfactory and encouraging, Secretary Henry L. Stimson announced today.

Everything was done by the delegates of the five powers who have been in almost continual private sessions in addition to one business meeting, seemed to meet with general approval of all delegations, Stimson told the press at a conference at St. James palace.

The American chief delegate conferred all morning with his associates and will see Dino Grandi, the Italian foreign minister, at 2:30 P. M. for another private conversation to smooth the way of the conference.

The French and Italian delegates paid separate visits to the residence of Prime Minister MacDonald at No. 10 Downing Street to continue their conversations with the British delegation. A communique issued by the British delegation said:

"The French and British met at No. 10 Downing Street to consider the report of a committee of experts which it has been asked to prepare. The report shows encouraging results on certain points and it was decided to invite the experts to continue their conversations."

It was announced that MacDonald will go to his country house at Chequers tonight and will receive the other delegates there tomorrow. No arrangements have been made to receive other delegates at Chequers.

Stimson announced, in his talk with correspondents, that he intends to provide for American press representatives at the future meetings of the whole conference, such as was held yesterday. He said he intended to give up three of the seats provided for his own experts to the American press associations as he sees no reason why the press should not be admitted.

The only reason for excluding the press was said to be the small size of the conference room, but it was understood that some of the other delegations might follow the American lead and provide seats for press representatives from their countries.

London, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—One of the outstanding preliminary problems of the naval conference—whether to discuss limitation of total tonnage or by categories—was definitely shaped today in two long private conversations at No. 10 Downing street.

The French, Italian and British delegates participated in the private discussions which will be continued next week and possibly will be taken up this afternoon by Secretary Stimson and the Italian foreign minister, Dino Grandi.

The French have supported a theory of "global" limitation, that is, by fixing a total tonnage for war ships which might be distributed in various classes, such as battleships, cruisers, destroyers, etc., according to the wishes and needs of each country. The British have sought limitation by categories or classes of ships. After the meeting of the French and British today it was indicated there might be a move for compromise by permitting transfer of tonnage from one class to another if desired.

The French thesis was presented by Rene Massigli, but figures were not discussed. A second meeting next Monday will continue the discussion.

The Italian delegates, who followed the French to the British government residence, discussed the problem of how to approach the question of tonnage. The Italian delegates maintained the question is allied with the question of global or categorical limitation. It was said in Italian sources that they felt it necessary first to settle the global or category problem, adding that they are willing to permit the French and British to continue the discussions of tonnage needs on which the Italians have been kept closely informed.

Federal Farm Board Loans $3,000,000 to Land O' Lakes Creameries

Washington, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—A loan of $3,000,000 to the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., Minneapolis, was approved by the federal farm board today.

The board announced $1,000,000 was to assist the cooperative association in merchandising dairy products handled by it, and $2,000,000 to enable the association to advance to its members a greater share of the market price of dairy products delivered.

APARTMENT LIFE CUTS INTO HOME LIFE OF AMERICA

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—C. E. Stedman, Chicago, chairman of President Hoover's industrial survey conference in the building division, told the Northwestern Lumbermen's association that apartment life had robbed American homes of many older advantages and enjoyments.

RADIO STATION KSTP TO BROADCAST SOUND VERSION OF A MOVING PICTURE

By HILLIER KRIEGBAUM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.—Radio broadcasting and silent moving pictures will be combined today in an experiment which may point the way to a new type of talking pictures.
Radio station KSTP will broadcast the sound version of a moving picture late this afternoon while radio engineers pick up the waves at the United States Veterans' Bureau hospital here to synchronize them with a silent picture.
Photophone engineers said that the experiment would be the first whereby radio and talking pictures had been linked. They said that if the experiments were successful, it might be possible to take talking pictures to many places where installation of "talkie" equipment was impossible.
According to the plan, a line will operate direct from a local theater to the broadcasting station, where the sound will be broadcast starting at 3:40 P. M. a powerful receiver has been installed at the hospital auditorium.
Engineers at the hospital will regulate the speed of the silent picture to harmonize with the moving picture on the hospital screen.

DOG TEAM RACES THROUGH BLIZZARD TO SAVE MINER

Grangeville, Ida., Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Into the teeth of a northern Idaho blizzard today raced a dog sled against death that threatens the life of Fred Burke, a miner, who lies critically ill with blood poisoning in a lonely cabin at Copper King mine.
Ten sturdy, fast Irish setters pulled the sled over trails piled high with snowdrifts as Sumner Stonebreaker, veteran driver, urged them on their dash across glacial terrain.
With Stonebreaker were Dr. J. P. Weber, Lee Pettibone, guide, and the superintendent of the Copper King mine. They left late Thursday with medical supplies from Elk City after heavy storms delayed them several hours.

MAC DONALD IN AN ADDRESS ON WORLD PEACE

London, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—In London's ancient Guild Hall, for centuries the center of the commercial world, Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald and Premier Andre Tardieu of France brought home to a brilliant audience last night the practical, commercial and political wisdom of world peace.
Sir William Waterlo, London's lord mayor, was host to the plenipotentiaries, and the banquet speakers were the British and French leaders.
The dinner reached its significant climax in the picturesque passing of the loving cup—a huge golden goblet filled with sack—which went the rounds of the diners from lip to lip, as an acknowledgment of international friendliness and good will. Incidentally, it was noticeable that few, if any of those who "quaffed" the cup actually drank any of its contents.

SECY. STIMSON MAKES STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

FRENCH AND BRITISH MEET TO CONSIDER REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS

STIMSON TO PROVIDE FOR THE AMERICAN PRESS REPRESENTATIVES AT MEETINGS
By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Jan. 24.—Progress of the naval conference has been very satisfactory and encouraging, Secretary Henry L. Stimson announced today.
Everything was done by the delegates of the five powers who have been in almost continual private sessions in addition to one business meeting, seemed to meet with general approval of all delegations, Stimson told the press at a conference at St. James palace.
The American chief delegate conferred all morning with his associates and will see Dino Grandi, the Italian foreign minister, at 2:30 P. M. for another private conversation to smooth the way of the conference.

THE FRENCH AND ITALIAN DELEGATES PAID SEPARATE VISITS TO THE RESIDENCE OF PRIME MINISTER MACDONALD AT 30, 10 DOWNING STREET TO CONTINUE CONVERSATIONS WITH THE BRITISH DELEGATION. A COMMUNIQUE ISSUED BY THE BRITISH DELEGATION SAID:

"The French and British met at No. 10 Downing Street to consider the report of a committee of experts which it has been asked to prepare. The report shows encouraging results on certain points and it was decided to invite the experts to continue their conversations."

IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT MACDONALD WOULD GO TO HIS COUNTRY HOME AT CHEQUERS TONIGHT AND WILL RECEIVE THE EMPIRE DELEGATES THERE TOMORROW. NO ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO RECEIVE OTHER DELEGATES AT CHEQUERS.

Stimson announced, in his talk with correspondents, that he intends to provide for American press representatives at the future meetings of the whole conference, such as was held yesterday. He said he intended to give up three of the seats provided for his own experts to the American press associations as he sees no reason why the press should not be admitted.

THE ONLY REASON FOR EXCLUDING THE PRESS WAS SAID TO BE THE SMALL SIZE OF THE CONFERENCE ROOM, BUT IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT SOME OF THE OTHER DELEGATIONS MIGHT FOLLOW THE AMERICAN LEAD AND PROVIDE SEATS FOR PRESS REPRESENTATIVES FROM THEIR COUNTRIES.

London, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—One of the outstanding preliminary problems of the naval conference—whether to discuss limitation of total tonnage or by categories—was definitely shaped today in two long private conversations at No. 10 Downing street.

The French, Italian and British delegates participated in the private discussions which will be continued next week and possibly will be taken up this afternoon by Secretary Stimson and the Italian foreign minister, Dino Grandi.

THE FRENCH HAVE SUPPORTED A THEORY OF "GLOBAL" LIMITATION, THAT IS, BY FIXING A TOTAL TONNAGE FOR WAR SHIPS WHICH MIGHT BE DISTRIBUTED IN various classes, such as battleships, cruisers, destroyers, etc., according to the wishes and needs of each country. The British have sought limitation by categories or classes of ships. After the meeting of the French and British today it was indicated there might be a move for compromise by permitting transfer of tonnage from one class to another if desired.

The French thesis was presented by Rene Massigli, but figures were not discussed. A second meeting next Monday will continue the discussion. The Italian delegates, who followed the French to the British government residence, discussed the problem of how to approach the question of tonnage. The Italian delegates maintained the question is allied with the question of global or categorical limitation. It was said in Italian sources that they felt it necessary first to settle the global or category problem, adding that they are willing to permit the French and British to continue the discussions of tonnage needs on which the Italians have been kept closely informed.

Federal Farm Board Loans $3,000,000 to Land O' Lakes Creameries

Washington, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—A loan of $3,000,000 to the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., Minneapolis, was approved by the federal farm board today.

The board announced $1,000,000 was to assist the cooperative association in merchandising dairy products handled by it, and $2,000,000 to enable the association to advance to its members a greater share of the market price of dairy products delivered.

PLAN REGIONAL WELFARE MEET

Plans for Spring Conference to be Outlined at Meeting Here Saturday Afternoon

TO INCLUDE SIX COUNTIES

Mrs. Monica Doyle, Executive Secretary of State Conference of Social Workers Here

Mrs. Monica Doyle of the University Extension department of the University of Minnesota and executive secretary of the State Conference of Social Workers will arrive in the city tomorrow and will assist leaders in social welfare work here at a meeting tomorrow afternoon to make plans for the holding of a regional conference at Brainerd on health and social work this spring.

The meeting tomorrow will take place at 1:30 p. m. in the Probate Court rooms. Chairmen of various organizations in the city interested in the work together with Miss Rebecca Cassell, secretary of the County Child Welfare Board and city and county school superintendents will be present. Twenty invitations have been extended.

The spring regional conference will include six counties, Crow Wing, Cass, Morrison, Todd, Aitkin, Mille Lacs.

DAGGETT BROOK

Mrs. Ira Ringering and sons, Arnold and Merlin called at the Engelhart home last Sunday.

Joe Knerr was in town last Tuesday.

Tuesday was livestock shipping day and quite a few farmers hauled stock to town.

Mrs. Joe Knerr and Ione are visiting in town at the home of her parents for a few days.

Lester Hilderbrand was in town one day this week.

The county snow plow was out again last Tuesday, widening out the road. We surely appreciate having the roads kept so nice. Our mail man, Mr. Falconer has not missed a day this winter so far, even in the blizzard we had a few days back.

Mr. and Mrs. Lutes went to Brainerd Wednesday to see Mrs. Lutes father, Mr. Vellet, who is ill at the hospital. Mr. Vellet has not been getting along as well as might be. We hope he may soon get better.

Ralph Gorton cut his foot one day this week while working for Mr. James.

Our roads are pretty well blocked again in places due to the snow drifting so much after the snow plow came out.

Henry Thon and Donald were in Brainerd last Thursday.

The Farm Bureau Unit meeting on Thursday of last week was pretty well attended, considering the cold weather. All reported the program as being fine.

Mrs. Ringering was quite sick for a few days. A number of other neighbors have been on the sick list too, with colds.

Miss Mary Stark visited at Harvey Britton's last Saturday.

Mr. Meyer and Carl were in Brainerd one day this week.

J. S. Vanderwerker was in Brainerd last Monday.

The Home Oil Company's "tank car" was around filling the kerosene tanks of this neighborhood last Monday.

Sells St. Alban's Property

Purchase of the St. Alban's property on Mille Lacs Lake from Con O'Brien, Brainerd, by Fred Nichols of Aitkin, was announced here today.

The St. Alban's property is located two miles south of Garrison on T. H. No. 18. It is identified by the large tree in the center of the road. Two years ago the property was heavily hit by fire.

Grasshopper's Short Life

In the tropics the natural span of life of grasshoppers and other insects may be somewhat lengthened by the fact that death is not hastened by the coming of cold and freezing weather as it is in temperate or frigid regions and also because the period of metamorphosis extends over an average longer period of time. But as a rule the life of single brooded insects is not over a year in any climate.

Ancient Civilizations

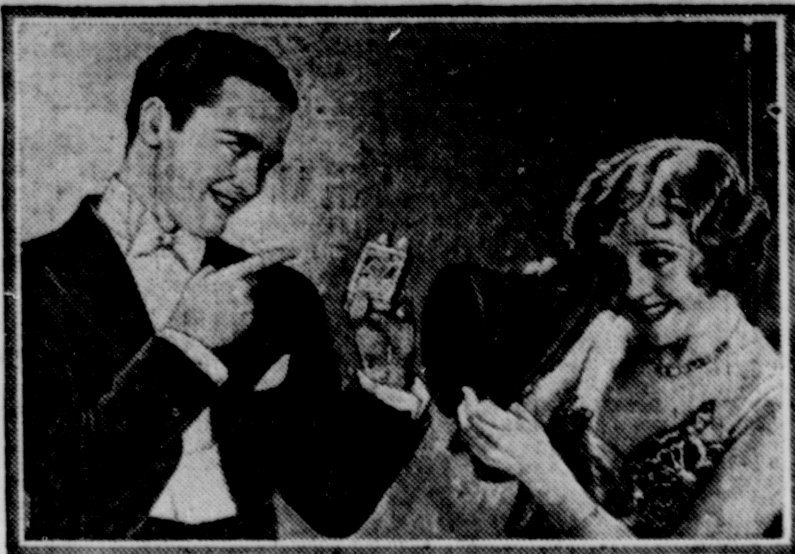

Recent excavations in Mexico and other parts of Central America have led scientists to believe that possibly there were extant in that part of the world civilizations older than those of China and similar nations. At Culicuilco, Mexico, excavations revealed a temple and some skeletons which indicate that it was probably constructed nearly 8,000 years ago.

Marathon Golfer

A New Jersey man played 108 holes of golf in one day. That is not so bad as it sounds, for he probably was so tired afterward that he didn't describe them to his friends.

Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll in the Paramount Picturization of Arthur Train's novel, "Illusion"

Nancy Carroll and Charles "Buddy" Rogers, the youthful stars of that gay musical comedy picture, "Close Harmony," are again co-starred in Paramount's all-talking dramatization of Arthur Train's best selling novel, "Illusion," coming on Saturday only to the Paramount theatre.

Rogers is cast as an actor, and Nancy Carroll is his winsome partner. Rogers, however, is tired of one night stands, dilapidated hotels and one arm restaurants. He longs for a life of ease and comfort and when his witness and personal charm win for him an entire lot in society, he meets and falls in love with June Collyer, the beautiful daughter of a millionaire. Nancy, however, secretly loves Rogers and is heartbroken when she learns he loves June and wants to dissolve their act. But rather than hurt him, she agrees to his plans and wishes him luck. Meanwhile, much to Rogers' chagrin, Nancy strikes up a friendship with June Collyer's scapgoat brother, who sees in Nancy a charming plaything.

Fashions for the Smart Woman

STRAIGHT-LINED COAT

The lavish use of fur and fairly straight-body lines are outstanding fashion inspirations for the winter season, according to the latest sketches from Paris. No less a couturiere than Vivienne has placed her stamp of approval on the full length straight-lined coat, slightly cutaway at the lower closing edges. Such a coat is illustrated above in broadcloth with a long shawl collar and cuffs of one of the important furs—as lynx, blue fox or cross fox. Brown and black are the hues that are attracting the most attention.

Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4553. Sizes 14 to 48, 50 cents.

Nets Coarse in Texture Used for Evening Wear

Lacy nets coarse in texture are seen in numerous versions of evening dresses having long sleeves, so designed for occasions when formal clothes are not de rigueur.

A shade such as russet is very attractive in this open mesh net, worn over a self-toned slip. Hemlines show a trend toward the even rather than irregular, the skirt considerably lengthened all around. Jersey net is included among the various types of net present in the mode for formal evening gowns in all black.

An Evening Turban Is Cap in Dull Gold Lace

A successor to the turban of chiffon is a draped cap of dull gold lace with ends that may be wound about the head and tied as one finds most becoming. This fetching little evening accessory complements the long molder gowns and is smart with a fur or furred evening wrap.

Finest Rubber Trees
The Hevea trees which grow in Brazil are the most valuable of rubber trees.

STRAIGHT-LINED COAT

The lavish use of fur and fairly straight-body lines are outstanding fashion inspirations for the winter season, according to the latest sketches from Paris. No less a couturiere than Vionnet has placed her stamp of approval on the full length straight-lined coat, slightly cutaway at the lower closing edges. Such a coat is illustrated above in broadcloth with a long shawl collar and cuffs of one of the important furs—such as lynx, blue fox or cross fox. Brown and black are the hues that are attracting the most attention.

Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4553. Sizes 14 to 48, 50 cents.

Nets Coarse in Texture Used for Evening Wear

Lacy nets coarse in texture are seen in numerous versions of evening dresses having long sleeves, so designed for occasions when formal clothes are not de rigueur.

A shade such as russet is very attractive in this open mesh net, worn over a seiftened slip. Hemlines show a trend toward the even rather than irregular, the skirt considerably lengthened all around. Jersey net is included among the various types of net present in the mode for formal evening gowns in all black.

An Evening Turban Is Cap in Dull Gold Lace

A successor to the turban of chiffon is a draped cap of dull gold lace with ends that may be wound about the head and tied as one finds most becoming. This fetching little evening accessory complements the long molder gowns and is smart with a fur or furred evening wrap.

Finest Rubber Trees

The Hevea trees which grow in Brazil are the most valuable of rubber trees.

A Mile of Homes

A MILE OF HOMES is the record of the Brainerd Building and Loan Association which in seven and a half years has assisted to finance the building of 131 homes in Brainerd.

Measured in terms of city blocks, it would mean houses on both sides of a city street extending 11 blocks long.

Measured in terms of population it would mean 131 distinct homes and with a low average of four children to the family, it means the housing of 262 parents plus almost 500 children.

Increasing the comfort of our citizens and adding to the taxable value of the city of Brainerd is a most valuable function of our local building and loan association and marks it as one of the basic assets of Brainerd.

Some may not know the procedure followed to place a loan with the association. The first step is to make an application to the secretary of the association giving the description of the property, and the estimated cost of the building to be erected, with plans and specifications. This application is then turned over to the appraisal committee of the association, which is composed of three of the directors, E. L. Dahl, John Carlson and E. O. Webb, who make their investigation and report back to the directors. If the loan is recommended, an abstract of title is ordered, examined and after a written report from the examining attorney, final action is taken by the board of directors.

One of the great advantages of a building and loan association is the easy monthly payment system, which effects a reduction in principal as well as paying current interest, and accomplishes the complete ownership of the property in 11 years under their Class A plan. Payments are so graduated that in effect, they amount to less than the same property could be rented for. At the end of 11 years the borrower has a home paid for, instead of a bundle of rent receipts.

The association has worked so conservatively and carefully that in its seven and a half years period of operation, it has never foreclosed a loan. The aim and object of the association is to make Brainerd a city of home owners. Actuated by the highest public spirit and civic motives, expenses are kept at a minimum which is one-fifth of one per cent.

There has been very little change in its list of officers and board of directors, except as may have been caused by unavoidable circumstances, such as death or removal from the city.

The president, vice president, secretary and most of the directors have served continuously since the organization of the association.

Pitiful Spectacle of Mismanagement

CHICAGO which claims to be the greatest city of America and even of the world in many material things, today presents the spectacle of being a plain dud in financial mismanagement.

The whole thing seems to revolve about its scheme of taxation, and to date back to the time when the city ordered a complete reassessment. This, as claimed by Mayor Thompson, has cut the assessed valuation of the city by about $300,000,000.

Early this year a reduction was made in police, firemen and other departments. The citizens resented that and most of the men were back at work again within a week. The schools will run out of money shortly and may be closed in February.

It has been laughable in a way to watch Chicago. When it had on a gangster war, its citizens appealed to the Federal Government for aid. It is probable, now when the city is mired in a financial morass, it will again appeal to some higher power to help it out of its muddle.

As matters now stand many men on city payrolls are unpaid and no one knows when they will be paid. The whole city is blue and this state of mind was commented on by S. R. Hickerson of Brainerd, who passed through the city last week.

Mayor Thompson, it will be remembered, is the man who put forth the great campaign on revising school book histories and calling attention to the alleged growth of affection for Britain. If some of the effort put forth on this long distance campaign had been directed to solving home affairs in his own bailiwick, then the pitiful spectre, Chicago a pauper city, might have been averted.

Keeping the Government Going

ACCORDING to the Manufacturer and Industrial News Bureau some economist with a genius for statistics should figure out the average number of days each citizen works to pay his taxes.

In 1927, about 6.12 per cent of the gainfully occupied population of this nation worked for some branch of government. Assuming that this percentage is still about the same, and that government pay is equal to that received by persons working for private business, it would seem that about one-sixteenth of the time of our citizens is required to keep the government payroll going. This would be 23 days per annum.

In addition to the payroll, the government spends vast sums on building, warships, schools, the army and navy, hospitals, courts of law and for supplies of all natures. It pays out millions annually in pensions and for interest on bonds.

In all probability, the payroll is less than half of government expense. Perhaps Mr. Average Citizen, whether he knows it or not, contributes the earnings of well over a month of his working time each year to keep his government going.

Just Like a Woman

For nine years Mrs. Alta Eastman of Chicago read proof in newspaper offices so her husband could go through high school and college and make a success of himself and then he left her and she has been compelled to apply to the courts for separate maintenance and small alimony.

She reproached him for his delinquencies when he said he wanted to live his own life and could do better without her. "I'd probably be fool enough to take him back if he would promise to mend his ways," said she to the judge, just like most women who are forgiving, who endure much, who suffer in silence.

EVEN diplomacy is undergoing changes. Who would have thought, years ago, that the whole proceedings of the opening of a naval conference could be heard by millions of people throughout the world.

"STORM-TOSSED"
BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

CHAPTER XXV.

LAST night—last night—
"Now we'll have a nice quiet day, Enid," said Pauline, settling back in the wicker chaise-longue.

Would there ever be any more nice, quiet days for Enid? A strange foreboding lowered over her smooth, shining head.

"Yes," she managed to answer. "I'll bring my writing-case over. I've so many letters to write."

The morning seemed very long. After lunch Enid and Pauline read. David was busy about the place.

About three o'clock he came in and asked Pauline if she wanted to go down the mountain. It was time to meet Ivor.

Enid waited on the porch for their return. It was good to be by herself, and yet she was afraid to be alone. One's thoughts are more intimate when one is alone.

This man Drake coming. She had a strange feeling about him. He knew all about Dick. Perhaps he knew that girl. Dick had seen so much of him. It seemed to Enid that in some way Drake represented that miserable affair in China.

And yet, she was glad he was coming. Often something which has hurt has a peculiar fascination.

There they came, Pauline walking between Dave and Drake. Rather good-looking in an English sort of way, almost foreign-looking Drake was. Awfully smart clothes.

"Enid, this is Mr. Drake."

Enid smiled and shook hands with him.

"This is a real pleasure, Mrs. Grier. I knew Ned and Dave when they were youngsters."

"Bring the Scotch, Drake," said Pauline. "Ivor must want a drink after his long ride."

The drinks poured out, the four sat down. Enid studied Drake.

"This is a fine place you have," said Ivor.

"Yes, we like living here very much."

"I'm so glad that I called you. Mrs. Grant told me that your ranch was on my way to Los Angeles. You're very kind to have me. When old Dick gets in it will be a regular old-home week."

"Too bad Ned couldn't be here," Dave said with regret, "but you'll see him in L. A."

"You say Dick is leaving a San Francisco girl today?" Ivor asked.

"Yes, we've been boosting this match for some time."

"Do you know," Ivor Drake said, with a puzzled expression on his face, "Dick was the queerest fellow out in the East."

Enid almost squirmed in her chair.

"What do you mean?" asked Dave, interested.

"He lived such a strange sort of a life."

Why had this man come—but let him go on—go on—

"Yes," Drake continued. "He only went out when he had to—to some official dinner or perhaps a party given by a Number One man. He absolutely shunned the society of women—so different from most fellows out there. In fact, he was known throughout the colony as a woman-hater."

Woman-hater, Enid could have sneered. It should have been plural—women-hater. But Dick specialized evidently. The old bitterness was coming back.

"He's a great fellow. Of course you heard about him and the beautiful Eurasian?"

Enid felt the blood leave her face. She was afraid they might look at her. But they were too interested in Drake's conversation.

"Eurasian girl?" asked Dave. "No—what about it?"

"Well, it seems that Dick was walking home one evening, and there was a street riot. Students bumped into a soldier. You know anything will start a fight over there, and then in a second it's everybody's fight."

"Dick saw a girl being trampled in the street, charged right in and carried her to safety. She was an Eurasian, and you know the Chinese despise them as well as the Europeans. They really have no standing."

Enid could hardly wait for the

"That was the fine thing about it. Most fellows would have cashed in on such a situation—but not Dick. I'm here to say that that girl went back the next day on the ship to Chefoo exactly as she arrived. Of course, she was so grateful to Dick that it was pathetic."

"What an amazing story!" exclaimed Pauline.

"Naturally we'd never hear it from Dick," laughed Dave.

"I thought you had all heard about it. I wrote the whole story to Ned several years ago."

Enid loosened her grip on the

"Dick, Dick—my beloved! How could I have misjudged you so?"

next sentence, and yet she arms of her chair. Her whole body drenched it. She braced herself—held on to the arms of her chair as if it had been a dentist's.

"The poor girl—and she was a beautiful little creature, exquisite! Those women out there are like dolls, you know. The poor little thing had no place to go. She had come down from Chefoo to marry the purser on a merchant ship. He hadn't shown up. She'd spent all her money waiting for him, and her luggage was lost in the scuffle."

"So what did old Dick do to take her right home, get an amah for her, turn over his house to her—he came down to live with me—and send her back to her home in Chefoo."

"Just like Dick," said Dave.

"Of course. I was crazy to write it up. It had no particular news value—couldn't have been sent as a dispatch—but it would have made a good feature story. But you know Dick. Such publicity of his doing what he considered merely the polite thing to do would have embarrassed him until he would have been ready to murder me."

"It was a kind thing to do," said Pauline. "But Dick is kindness itself."

"It was more than that," said Drake. "It was really a nifty thing to do. Dick was running in great danger of having his head cracked open when he drove into that mob. You don't know what a mob is until you've seen one over there. They go crazy."

"I'll wager Dick treated that girl as he would have treated the greatest lady," Dave speculated.

PLUCKED FROM THE AIR

By C. E. Winstead
United Press Radio Editor

New York, Jan. 24.—(UP)—Announcement that the pentode or five-element tube had been perfected by President Ernest Kaufer of the Ceco Manufacturing company of Providence, R. I., has brought forth much comment in metropolitan newspapers as to the significance of the development.

It is claimed that the pentode will represent as great an advance in radio as did the three element tube back in 1906. Kaufer summarized the princial features of the new tube are:

Three times as powerful as the screen grid tube.
Capable of being utilized to its full efficiency.
Cancels necessity of multi-tube receivers.
Will lower cost of manufacturing sets, and bring a big retail reduction in the price of radio entertainment.
Will decrease maintenance costs for set owners.
Through savings will greatly enlarge radio merchandise market.
The new tube is described as a sort of double screen-grid, having screen around the plate as in the present screen grids, and also another screen between the control grid and the cathode. The second screen is designed to greatly increase amplification.

A Mile of Homes

A MILE OF HOMES is the record of the Brainerd Building and Loan Association which in seven and a half years has assisted to finance the building of 131 homes in Brainerd.

Measured in terms of city blocks, it would mean houses on both sides of a city street extending 11 blocks long.

Measured in terms of population it would mean 131 distinct homes and with a low average of four children to the family, it means the housing of 262 parents plus almost 500 children.

Increasing the comfort of our citizens and adding to the taxable value of the city of Brainerd is a most valuable function of our local building and loan association and marks it as one of the basic assets of Brainerd.

Some may not know the procedure followed to place a loan with the association. The first step is to make an application to the secretary of the association giving the description of the property, and the estimated cost of the building to be erected, with plans and specifications. This application is then turned over to the appraisal committee of the association, which is composed of three of the directors, E. L. Dahl, John Carlson and E. O. Webb, who make their investigation and report back to the directors. If the loan is recommended, an abstract of title is ordered, examined and after a written report from the examining attorney, final action is taken by the board of directors.

One of the great advantages of a building and loan association is the easy monthly payment system, which effects a reduction in principal as well as paying current interest, and accomplishes the complete ownership of the property in 11 years under their Class A plan. Payments are so graduated that in effect, they amount to less than the same property could be rented for. At the end of 11 years the borrower has a home paid for, instead of a bundle of rent receipts.

The association has worked so conservatively and carefully that in its seven and a half years period of operation, it has never foreclosed a loan. The aim and object of the association is to make Brainerd a city of home owners. Actuated by the highest public spirit and civic motives, expenses are kept at a minimum which is one-fifth of one per cent.

There has been very little change in its list of officers and board of directors, except as may have been caused by unavoidable circumstances, such as death or removal from the city.

The president, vice president, secretary and most of the directors have served continuously since the organization of the association.

Pitiful Spectacle of Mismanagement

CHICAGO which claims to be the greatest city of America and even of the world in many material things, today presents the spectacle of being a plain dud in financial mismanagement.

The whole thing seems to revolve about its scheme of taxation, and to date back to the time when the city ordered a complete reassessment. This, as claimed by Mayor Thompson, has cut the assessed valuation of the city by about $300,000,000.

Early this year a reduction was made in police, firemen and other departments. The citizens resented that and most of the men were back at work again within a week. The schools will run out of money shortly and may be closed in February.

It has been laughable in a way to watch Chicago. When it had on a gangster war, its citizens appealed to the Federal Government for aid. It is probable, now when the city is mired in a financial morass, it will again appeal to some higher power to help it out of its muddle.

As matters now stand many men on city payrolls are unpaid and no one knows when they will be paid. The whole city is blue and this state of mind was commented on by S. R. Hickerson of Brainerd, who passed through the city last week.

Mayor Thompson, it will be remembered, is the man who put forth the great campaign on revising school book histories and calling attention to the alleged growth of affection for Britain. If some of the effort put forth on this long distance campaign had been directed to solving home affairs in his own bailiwick, then the pitiful spectre, Chicago a pauper city, might have been averted.

Keeping the Government Going

ACCORDING to the Manufacturer and Industrial News Bureau some economist with a genius for statistics should figure out the average number of days each citizen works to pay his taxes.

In 1927, about 6.12 per cent of the gainfully occupied population of this nation worked for some branch of government. Assuming that this percentage is still about the same, and that government pay is equal to that received by persons working for private business, it would seem that about one-sixteenth of the time of our citizens is required to keep the government payroll going. This would be 23 days per annum.

In addition to the payroll, the government spends vast sums on building, warships, schools, the army and navy, hospitals, courts of law and for supplies of all natures. It pays out millions annually in pensions and for interest on bonds.

In all probability, the payroll is less than half of government expense. Perhaps Mr. Average Citizen, whether he knows it or not, contributes the earnings of well over a month of his working time each year to keep his government going.

Just Like a Woman

FOR nine years Mrs. Alta Eastman of Chicago read proof in newspaper offices so her husband could go through high school and college and make a success of himself and then he left her and she has been compelled to apply to the courts for separate maintenance and small alimony.

She reproached him for his delinquencies when he said he wanted to live his own life and could do better without her.

"I'd probably be fool enough to take him back if he would promise to mend his ways," said she to the judge, just like most women who are forgiving, who endure much, who suffer in silence.

"STORM-TOSSED"
BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

CHAPTER XXV.

LAST night—last night—
"Now we'll have a nice quiet day, Enid," said Pauline, settling back in the wicker chaise-longue.

Would there ever be any more nice, quiet days for Enid? A strange foreboding lowered over her smooth, shining head. "Yes," she managed to answer. "I'll bring my writing-case over. I've so many letters to write."

The morning seemed very long. After lunch Enid and Pauline read. David was busy about the place.

About three o'clock he came in and asked Pauline if she wanted to go down the mountain. It was time to meet Ivor.

Enid waited on the porch for their return. It was good to be by herself, and yet she was afraid to be alone. One's thoughts are more intimate when one is alone.

This man Drake coming! She had a strange feeling about him. He knew all about Dick. Perhaps he knew that girl. Dick had seen so much of him. It seemed to Enid that in some way Drake represented that miserable affair in China.

And yet, she was glad he was coming. Often something which has hurt has a peculiar fascination.

There they came, Pauline walking between Dave and Drake. Rather good-looking in an English sort of way, almost foreign-looking Drake was. Awfully smart clothes.

"Enid, this is Mr. Drake."

Enid smiled and shook hands with him.

"This is a real pleasure, Mrs. Grier. I knew Ned and Dave when they were youngsters."

"Bring the Scotch, Drake," said Pauline. "Ivor must want a drink after his long ride."

The drinks poured out, the four sat down. Enid studied Drake.

"This is a fine place you have," said Ivor.

"Yes, we like living here very much."

"I'm so glad that I called you. Mrs. Grant told me that your ranch was on my way to Los Angeles. You're very kind to have me. When old Dick gets in it will be a regular old-home week."

"Too bad Ned couldn't be here," Dave said with regret.

"But you'll see him in L. A.," said Pauline. "You say Dick is leaving a San Francisco girl today?" Ivor asked.

"Yes, we've been boosting this match for some time."

"Do you know," Ivor Drake said, with a puzzled expression on his face, "Dick was the queerest fellow out in the East."

Enid almost squirmed in her chair.

"What do you mean?" asked Dave, interested.

"He lived such a strange sort of a life."

Why had this man come—but let him go on—go on—

"Yes," Drake continued. "He only went out when he had to—to some official dinner or perhaps a party given by a Number One man. He absolutely shunned the society of women—so different from most fellows out there. In fact, he was known throughout the colony as a woman-hater."

Woman-hater, Enid could have sneered. It should have been plural—women-hater. But Dick specialized evidently. The old bitterness was coming back.

"He's a great fellow. Of course you heard about him and the beautiful Eurasian?"

Enid felt the blood leave her face. She was afraid they might look at her. But they were too interested in Drake's conversation.

"Eurasian girl?" asked Dave.

"No—what about it?"

"Well, it seems that Dick was walking home one evening, and there was a street riot. Students bumped into a soldier. You know anything will start a fight over there, and then in a second it's everybody's fight."

"Dick saw a girl being trampled in the street, charged right in and carried her to safety. She was an Eurasian, and you know the Chinese despise them as well as the Europeans. They really have no standing."

Enid could hardly wait for the

"That was the fine thing about it. Most fellows would have cashed in on such a situation—but not Dick. I'm here to say that that girl went back the next day on the ship to Chefoo exactly as she arrived. Of course, she was so grateful to Dick that it was pathetic."

"What an amazing story!" exclaimed Pauline. "Naturally we'd never hear it from Dick," laughed Dave. "I thought you had all heard about it. I wrote the whole story to Ned several years ago."

Enid loosened her grip on the

"Dick, Dick—my beloved! How could I have misjudged you so?"

next sentence, and yet she dreaded it. She braced herself—held on to the arms of her chair as if it had been a dentist's.

"The poor girl—and she was a beautiful little creature, exquisite! Those women out there are like dolls, you know. The poor little thing had no place to go. She had come down from Chefoo to marry the purser on a merchant ship. He hadn't shown up. She'd spent all her money waiting for him, and her luggage was lost in the scuffle."

"So what did old Dick do but take her right home, get an amah for her, turn over his house to her—he came down to live with me—and send her back to her home in Chefoo."

"Just like Dick," said Dave. "Of course, I was crazy to write it up. It had no particular news value—couldn't have been sent as a dispatch—but it would have made a good feature story. But you know Dick. Such publicity of his doing what he considered merely the polite thing to do would have embarrassed him until he would have been ready to murder me."

arms of her chair. Her whole body relaxed. She felt weak and dizzy, and yet with it she was aware of a strange exultation.

She pulled herself out of her chair and without excusing herself quietly left the group.

On her way to her cabin she walked as if she were blind. Once she tripped over a root and had difficulty in keeping her footing.

Quickly she opened the door, and, like one in a dream, found the couch.

She threw herself on it, face down. Cry? No. There was not for her the sweet release which tears bring.

"Dick—Dick—my beloved! How could I have misjudged you so? Why was I so quick to believe it? Why didn't I find out if it were so? How could I have believed it? Oh, the miserable thoughts I have had about you! The injustice of it. Dick—oh, forgive me! What a foolish girl I was! Our lives—we could have been—please—please forgive me—my darling."

"Ned—Ned—you betrayed him. You lied to me about him. How could you? Oh, Ned—why—why did you do it? Your friend, who loves you. You—Ned—disloyal—a liar—worse than a thief. Mummy used to say, 'You can catch a thief, but you can't catch a liar.' Ned, my husband—whom I have loved and wished that I might have a baby by—you told me that so that I would forget Dick. You knew he was the one—oh, Ned—"

B. H. S. QUINT OFF ON ALEXANDRIA-ST. CLOUD TOUR

TRIP WILL PREPARE TEAM FOR TOURNEY PLAY CONDITIONS

PLAY AT ALEXANDRIA TONIGHT
THEN CONTINUE TO ST. CLOUD
TOMORROW EVENING

SECOND STRINGERS WILL PRO-VIDE CONTEST HERE TONIGHT
WITH NEW YORK MILLS

Two stiff contests will be played tonight and tomorrow evening by the BRAINERD high school quint which left on the 1:15 P. M. train today for Alexandria.

The team will play Alexandria this evening and will continue from there to St. Cloud where they will play the Tech High at the St. Cloud armory
tomorrow evening.

BRAINERD is given an even break to win both games despite the strength noted in their opponents.

Best wishes for success were extended to Coach KASCH and his men at a pep-fest in the high school auditorium this morning to which the entire student body turned out. Cheers were led by Hallett Clarkson and Warren Golemboski, cheer leaders, while short talks were given by W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools, and Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal of the school. The pep band led by Roy La-Meter aided.

While the first string team is away on the tour, which is one of the finest a high school team can take in a season, the second team coached by Rolf Melby will play at home. The team will meet New York Mills tonight at 8 o'clock at the Washington high school. The contest will be an interesting one with New York Mills, rated in the calibre of Wadena and Staples, giving the locals strong competition.

Those making the trip to Alexandria and St. Cloud with Coach KASCH are: Hautala, Elmer Foster, Hoff-bauer, forwards; Guin, center; Bernard Foster, Clausen, Schuety and Garvey, guards.

Carrying the standards of the BRAINERD high at home this evening will be Joe Gablun, Mayo, forwards; Larson, center; Donald Guin, White, Templeton, guards.

Swanson of Montgomery Ward's team will referee.

The high school pep band led by Roy LaMeter will have a part in the program.

Progress of the game at Alexandria will be followed by reports of the score at the half and at the close of the game.

A turnout almost as large as to a game of the regulars is expected at the Washington high gym this evening.

In meeting Alexandria and St. Cloud the BRAINERD team will clash with teams that have been winning consistently this season. Alexandria dished out a beating to Sauk Centre by the score of 36 to 14 recently in which Smith of the Alexandria team scored nine baskets. The reputation of St. Cloud Tech-High is well known.
The team trounced Little Falls this week but took defeat at the hands of Crosby-Ironton last Saturday on the latter's floor.

HAS $10,000 IN COLD CASH FOR HIS BRILLIANT VICTORY

HE WAS SCARCELY CONSIDERED
WHEN DOPESTERS MADE UP THEIR CHARTS

CAME THROUGH WITH ONE OF BEST EXHIBITIONS OF GOLF-ING IN HIS CAREER

By RONALD W. WAGGONER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Agua Caliente, Mex., Jan. 24.—Gene Sarazen, a famous personage in the world of golf, had $10,000 in cold cash today as the result of his brilliant victory in the first annual $25,000 Agua Caliente open tournament.

Sarazen, scarcely considered when the dopsters were making up their charts of possible winners, came through with one of the outstanding exhibitions of his long career to capture the big prize.

The winner, a professional registered from Fresh Meadows, N. Y., rose to great heights to capture the major event of America's golf season as far as money awards are concerned. He shot a 68, three under par, to total 295 for 72 holes and beat as fast a field as ever assembled at any tournament in the country.

Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., and Al
Espinoza, Chicago, tied for second place. Smith and Espinoza scored 297 and collected $3,750 as a result of their labor.

Next in line were the Dutra brothers, Olin from Los Angeles and Mortie of Tacoma, Wash., each of whom scored 298 to win $1,250 each. George Von Elm, leading amateur of the tournament was in the same class and was awarded a cup in recognition of his achievement.

SPORTS KAYOES

By "HAPPY"

The high school squad meets Alexandria tonight in the first of two week-end games to be played away from home. And it is safe to predict a good game, for Alexandria has a habit of turning out good teams, and while BRAINERD will not be represented by the best team in its history, Coach KASCH's boys have plenty of fight and may make many of the fans sit up and take notice before the season is over.

Then tomorrow night BRAINERD is to meet St. Cloud and since both BRAINERD and Tech lost to Crosby-Ironton
this game will hold a lot of interest.
St. Cloud trimmed Little Falls on Wednesday night in its other game of the week, while BRAINERD doesn't play until tonight, so Tech should have a little advantage in physical condition and also in the fact that they are playing on their home floor.

Wisconsin surely displayed a lot of fight last evening to hold second place in the Big Nine cage race. They defeated Indiana in an overtime period on the Hoosier floor. There is no getting around the fact that Dr. Mean-well teaches his boys how to play basketball.

This idea of combining the Globe
Trotters and Ward's BRAINERD Five is still hanging fire, but what a sweet ball club could be formed with such material as Wise, O. Heikkinen, Gablun, Nelson, Martin, LaCourse, W.
Heikkinen, Nutting, Swanson, Paine,
Fuller and Marshall.

BRAINERD boys and girls have a true friend in "Andy" Anderson at the Gregory Park skating rink. "Andy" flashes the lights at the rink three times every evening at 5:30 o'clock to tell the youngsters that it is time for them to go home and get something to eat. The warming house is then closed from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. No children of school age are allowed to skate during the hours school is in session, therefore preventing any attempt to "play hockey" in order to skate.

The Lions Club of St. Cloud has now taken charge of the St. Cloud hockey team. Why cannot BRAINERD have a city hockey team. St. Cloud would like a game with a team from BRAINERD soon.

The entire student body of the high school collected in the gym this morning for a pep fest before BRAINERD engages St. Cloud and Alexandria on foreign floors this week-end. They certainly gave the boys a rousing send-off and it surely is a boost for any team to know they are supported as BRAINERD high supports its teams.

The score of the Alexandria-BRAINERD game will be announced tonight at the new gym at half-time during the game between the BRAINERD high school seconds and New York Mills.

This road trip to Alexandria and St. Cloud including two stiff games on two successive evenings will be a good thing for Coach KASCH's quintet.
During tournament play the grind is even more strenuous than this and a few trips like this during the season are a great thing to help condition
a team for the season's classic.

That second team game between New York Mills and BRAINERD at the gym this evening should be worth watching. Coach Melby's boys squeezed out a win over Motley last Saturday evening at Motley and they will be right in there fighting again this evening.

Elinor Nolan of the Ladies' Bowling League rolled a 200 score in last evening's league games. The ladies are fast becoming proficient in this sport, despite the fact that the league was was organized only this season. At the rate the ladies are improving, the members of the two men's leagues had better look to their laurels.

If Primo Carnera, the Italian giant, with his 275 pounds and his size 29
shoes, is all that is claimed for him,
the result of his fight with Big Boy Peterson tonight will probably be broadcast as follows: "There's the bell!
They meet in the center of the ring for the first round. They spur cautiously. Carnera is so big the ring is crowded, leaving little space in which to maneuver. Peterson throws rights and lefts at the Man Mountain's whiskers but they fail to reach by a foot.
Big Boy violently signals his seconds for a step-ladder. He aims a vicious blow at Carnera's mid-riff which he can just reach, but Carnera merely sticks out a left glove, Peterson runs into it and goes into a clinch about Primo's knees. The Wop giant drops a ham-like fist on Peterson's head in the clinch. Peterson is down! He's down! We can't see him, but we think he's lying behind one of the Italian's shoes. The referee's counting, nine, ten. It's all over! Peterson is still out, but they'll probably bring him to in time to witness the next heavy-

NORTHERN STATES, KANDY KIDS WIN

ELINOR NOLAN PROVES BEST
BOWLER OF THE EVENING,
WITH A 200 COUNT

The Cottage Grill dropped two games to the Princess Kandy Kids last evening. Lena Gravelle of the Cottage Grill rolled good games of 150, 124 and 151 for 425 total, which was high in this match. Mrs. Evans also hit well for a 404 total.

The Northern States Power won two games from the Service News, the first and second games being very close. Elinor Nolan was star bowler of the evening, cracking out a big count of 200 which is the first one to be rolled by the ladies in the league this year. Her total of 447 is also high three-game total for the year.
Mrs. Anton Swanson with 411 total also rolled consistently well. She holds high season's average with 117 plus 17 pins for 25 games. VI Mitchell has 116 plus 14 pins for 16 games for second place in average.

PHIL SCOTT SAYS HE IS ONLY BOXER, AND NOT A FIGHTER

New York, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Phil
Scott, British heavyweight champion who meets Jack Sharkey at Miami February 27, does not consider himself a fighter, he said today, but only a boxer.

"It will not require a fighter to beat Sharkey," said Scott. "I'm a boxer and just the kind to defeat Sharkey."

Scott, whose part in the Miami purse probably will reach $100,000, had to borrow a dollar to tip his steward on the Homeric upon his arrival here. He posed for pictures with the social register in his hand.

Scott plans to depart Tuesday for Miami to begin active training.
He now weighs 215.

GREATEST OF HOCKEY'S
FOUR BOUCHER
BROTHERS!

THOSE who take their hockey seriously by no means would rate it as a game that would produce brotherly love, yet there have been more flesh-and-blood brothers prominently identified with it than with any other professional sport. This fastest of both indoor and outdoor games certainly runs in families.

For instance, all the four sons of Tom Boucher, once the most famous of all the Ottawa Rough Riders, are genuine hockey stars—Frank, Bill and George being in the big league, while Bobby is slated to make that grade soon.

The Boucher brothers have a very famous precedent in the Gilmore trio which flourished about twenty years ago. Dave, Bill and Suddie Gilmore were Ottawa stars of the first magnitude. Their father was a lumber Croesus, the Gilmore brothers undoubtedly being of the wealthiest family ever engaged in professional hockey.

The Gilmores featured with the celebrated Ottawa "Silver Seven" from 1903 through 1907. That team won the Stanley Cup three years in succession.

The Cook brothers—Bill and Bun, of the New York Rangers—are among the best of current puck-punchers. Their father was a great lacrosse player. And their baby "bre'r"—Alex—is pointing towards the big leagues judging from California rinks reports.

The Carsons—Bill the Bruin and Gerald of Les Canadiens—are a split duo that lend much brilliancy to this season's hockey.

The Conachers—the veteran Lionel and young Charlie—are also in the big league spotlight this season.

The Denneneys from Ottawa—Cyril and Corbett; the Thompsons from Calgary—"Tiny" Cecil Ralph and Paul; the Greens—"Red" and "Shorty"—are among other hockey brothers known to most fans. And don't overlook "Ching" and Ade

Johnson; nor Les and Frank
Patrick among the ice brethren.
When the Patricks and the Greens were in their playing prime about a generation ago, Odie and Sprague Cleghorn were on a par with them. Most of those veteran ice-burners, having retired as players, have advanced with their favorite sport in managerial roles.

The old wheeze that "family fights are the fiercest" may describe in part the influence most of those famous hockey brothers have had, or have, on the game.
Since nearly all of them have played or play on rival teams, the battle for family ranking has added pep to many a peppery contest.

Yes, a smack from a club off
the family tree seems to resound whenever a brother body-checks a brother in an ice melee. They clash so fiercely that, many a time, spectators have had visible evidence that "blood is thicker than water!"

At the rate the ladies are improving, the members of the two men's leagues had better look to their laurels.

If Primo Carnera, the Italian giant, with his 275 pounds and his size 29 shoes, is all that is claimed for him, the result of his fight with Big Boy Peterson tonight will probably be broadcast as follows: "There's the bell! They meet in the center of the ring for the first round. They spar cautiously. Carnera is so big the ring is crowded, leaving little space in which to maneuver. Peterson throws rights and lefts at the Man Mountain's whiskers but they fail to reach by a foot. Big Boy violently signals his seconds for a step-ladder. He aims a vicious blow at Carnera's mid-riff which he can just reach, but Carnera merely sticks out a left glove, Peterson runs into it and goes into a clinch about Primo's knees. The Wop giant drops a ham-like fist on Peterson's head in the clinch. Peterson is down! He's down! We can't see him, but we think he's lying behind one of the Italian's shoes. The referee's counting nineteen. It's all over! Peterson is still out, but they'll probably bring him in to time to witness the next heavy-

ELINOR NOLAN PROVES BEST BOWLER OF THE EVENING, WITH A 200 COUNT

The Cottage Grill dropped two games to the Princess Kandy Kids last evening. Lena Gravelle of the Cottage Grill rolled good games of 150, 124 and 151 for 425 total, which was high in this match. Mrs. Evans also hit well for a 404 total.

The Northern States Power won two games from the Service News, the first and second games being very close. Elinor Nolan was star bowler of the evening, cracking out a big count of 200 which is the first one to be rolled by the ladies in the league this year. Her total of 447 is also high three-game total for the year. Mrs. Anton Swanson with 411 total also rolled consistently well. She holds high season's average with 117 plus 17 pins for 25 games. VI Mitchell has 116 plus 14 pins for 16 games for second place in average.

The standings of the teams are as follows:

PHIL SCOTT SAYS HE IS ONLY BOXER, AND NOT A FIGHTER

New York, Jan. 24.—(U.P.)—Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion who meets Jack Sharkey at Miami February 27, does not consider himself a fighter, he said today, but only a boxer.

"It will not require a fighter to beat Sharkey," said Scott. "I'm a boxer and just the kind to defeat Sharkey."

Scott, whose part in the Miami purse probably will reach $100,000, had to borrow a dollar to tip his steward on the Homerie upon his arrival here. He posed for pictures with the social register in his hand.

Scott plans to depart Tuesday for Miami to begin active training. He now weighs 215.

Wisdom From Shakespeare

It is certain that either wise bearing or ignorant carriage is caught, as men take diseases, one of another; therefore let men take heed of their company.—William Shakespeare (1504-1616). "King Henry V."

Prosperity Must Be Shared

Let him who expects one class of society to prosper in the highest degree, while the other is in distress, try whether one side of his face can smile while the other is pinched.—Thomas Fuller.

Long in Banking Business

London's oldest bank is Hoare's, the age of which cannot be certainly stated; but there is in existence a receipt dated 1633 for money deposited there.

Brothers on the Ice

HARDIN BURNLEY

(Left) Bill CARSON—BOSTON VET WHOSE BROTHER GERALD IS WITH THE CANADIENS—OTHER HOCKEY FAMILIES ARE THE CONACHERS, THE COOKS, THE THOMPSONS and THE PATRICKS.

Frank BOUCHER—GREATEST OF HOCKEY'S FOUR BOUCHER BROTHERS!

THOSE who take their hockey seriously by no means would rate it as a game that would produce brotherly love, yet there have been more flesh-and-blood brothers prominently identified with it than with any other professional sport. This fastest of both indoor and outdoor games certainly runs in families.

For instance, all the four sons of Tom Boucher, once the most famous of all the Ottawa Rough Riders, are genuine hockey stars—Frank, Bill and George being in the big league, while Bobby is slated to make that grade soon. The Boucher brothers have a very famous precedent in the Gilmore trio which flourished about twenty years ago. Dave, Bill and Suddie Gilmore were Ottawa stars of the first magnitude. Their father was a lumber Croesus, the Gilmore brothers undoubtedly being of the wealthiest family ever engaged in professional hockey.

The Gilmores featured with the celebrated Ottawa "Silver Seven" from 1903 through 1907. That team won the Stanley Cup three years in succession. The Cook brothers—Bill and Bun, of the New York Rangers—are among the best of current puck-punchers. Their father was a great lacrosse player. And their baby "bre'r"—Alex—is pointing towards the big leagues judging from California rinks reports.

The Carsons—Bill the Bruin and Gerald of Les Canadiens—are a split duo that lend much brilliancy to this season's hockey. The Conachers—the veteran Lionel and young Charlie—are also in the big league spotlight this season.

The Denneneys from Ottawa—Cyril and Corbett—the Thompsons from Calgary—"Tiny" Cecil Ralph and Paul; the Greens—"Red" and "Shorty"—are among other hockey brothers known to most fans. And don't overlook "Ching" and Ade

Johnson; nor Les and Frank Patrick among the ice brethren. When the Patricks and the Greens were in their playing prime about a generation ago, Odie and Sprague Cleghorn were on a par with them. Most of those veteran ice-burners, having retired as players, have advanced with their favorite sport in managerial roles. The old wheeze that "family fights are the fiercest" may describe in part the influence most of those famous hockey brothers have had, or have, on the game. Since nearly all of them have played or play on rival teams, the battle for family ranking has added pep to many a peppery contest.

Yes, a smack from a club off the family tree seems to resound whenever a brother body-checks a brother in an ice melee. They clash so fiercely that, many a time, spectators have had visible evidence that "blood is thicker than water!"

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Nourishment does not make a meal

fun is just as important as food!

Breakfast should nourish. There's no question of that. But—this is just as important—breakfast should also stimulate. It should jog up the spirits. For the sake of good digestion and good living, we need some fun along with our food—especially in the morning. Try this scheme. Serve pancakes—the modern kind, made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour. Here's a breakfast that is more than good food—it's interesting food. The sort of breakfast that brings a sparkle to a man's eye—a sparkle that's extremely important to the day's success. You'll find this worth while—keep Pillsbury's Pancake Flour in the house—use it, regularly!

Glove Superstitions

There are many superstitions connected with gloves. For instance: A girl who puts on her right-hand glove first is doomed to be an old maid. Losing a button within 24 hours of purchasing a pair of new gloves means losing a sweetheart. Wearing one glove and carrying the other denotes a man of feminine temperament. A person who loses a glove must throw its mate away or stand a financial loss.

Bought and Boughten

The past participle of the verb "to buy" is "bought," the same as the simple past; that is, buy, bought, bought. The form "boughten" was originally used poetically. The expression "boughten goods" is an English and American colloquialism, which, though it may have some justification, nevertheless can not be said to be good usage.

Bell Composition

Carillon bells are made of copper, the only alloy being tin—three parts copper to one part tin. Any other known alloy is said to diminish the resonance of the bells.

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

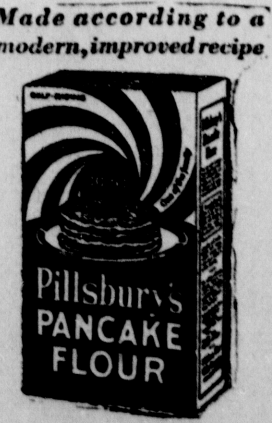

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to food and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Nourishment does not make a meal

fun is just as important as food!

Breakfast should nourish. There's no question of that. But—this is just as important—breakfast should also stimulate. It should jog up the spirits. For the sake of good digestion and good living, we need some fun along with our food—especially in the morning. Try this scheme. Serve pancakes—the modern kind, made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour. Here's a breakfast that is more than good food—it's interesting food. The sort of breakfast that brings a sparkle to a man's eye—a sparkle that's extremely important to the day's success. You'll find this worth while—keep Pillsbury's Pancake Flour in the house—use it, regularly!

Pillsbury's Pancake Flour

Glove Superstitions
There are many superstitions connected with gloves. For instance: A girl who puts on her right-hand glove first is doomed to be an old maid. Losing a button within 24 hours of purchasing a pair of new gloves means losing a sweetheart. Wearing one glove and carrying the other denotes a man of feminine temperament. A person who loses a glove must throw its mate away or stand a financial loss.

Bought, and Boughten
The past participle of the verb "to buy" is "bought," the same as the simple past: that is, buy, bought, bought. The form "boughten" was originally used poetically. The expression "boughten goods" is an English and American colloquialism, which, though it may have some justification, nevertheless cannot be said to be good usage.

Bell Composition
Carillon bells are made of copper, the only alloy being tin—three parts copper to one part tin. Any other known alloy is said to diminish the resonance of the bells.

FACTORY TO MAKE 36,000 GARMENTS

Hickerson Garment Co. to Have Best
Year in 1930 Since Organization

INSURES STEADY WORK

S. R. Hickerson, President, Returns
From Successful Tour
in the East

The Hickerson Garment Factory, South Sixth street, will manufacture 36,000 garments during the year 1930, S. R. Hickerson, president of the company, said in a statement today in which he predicted the year to be the best yet in the history of the company.

Mr. Hickerson returned this week from a trip through the east, securing orders for garments in Chicago, Detroit, Syracuse, Utica, Boston, New York, Plattsburg and Ogdensburg.

To take care of the large volume of business six machines will be added and enlargements made in the storage department.

Additional employees will be added to bring the total employed up to 50 before summer. At the present time 38 employees are on the payroll. There will be steady work for all the employees throughout the entire year.

During the year 1929, 27,000 garments were manufactured. The payroll totalled $25,000.

Dividends of 6 percent on the common stock and 6 percent on the preferred stock have been paid.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders this week officers and directors were re-elected for the ensuing year.

They are:

President—S. R. Hickerson.
Vice President—Con O'Brien.
Secretary-Treasurer—R. R. Gould.
Directors—S. R. Hickerson, R. R. Gould, Con O'Brien, W. H. Cleary and Walter P. Tyrholm.

Discussing his trip Mr. Hickerson stated that a feeling of optimism prevailed among business men he talked with.

"Of all the cities I visited Chicago appeared to be the only city where any depression existed. This is probably due to the city's municipal financial condition," he said.

Asked how he could enter the eastern field where many mills are located Mr. Hickerson said he did a splendid business in northern New York and that he secured one of the best accounts on his trip in New York City.

"Our competition does not come so much from eastern factories as from those in the middle west," said Mr. Hickerson. "As it is the middle western factories lead the field in garment manufacture doing a very heavy business in the east."

One of the reasons why Mr. Hickerson wins out over eastern competition is that he has created original ideas in the style and manufacture of garments and which are presented in advance of samples from other factories. He also is a firm believer in good business ethics.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert William and son of Winona, Minn., motored up Sunday to the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norton. Mr. William returned to Minneapolis Sunday evening. Mrs. Williams and son Bobbie will remain for a long visit.

Miss Ruby Miller returned Sunday after spending the past three weeks in the Cities visiting with her sister, Mrs. E. L. Kallier and other relatives.

Mrs. Alton Norton and Mrs. Roy Norton visited with Mrs. Wm. Slange last Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thomas and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Aspholm and sons and Melvin and Oscar Peterson and Henry Howard visited at the Miller home Sunday.

Now is the time to put up your next summer's supply of ice while there is both ice and snow to haul it on.

BRAINERD B. & L. HAS FINE RECORD

Home Owners, Made Possible by Association, Increase From 82 to 131 in Year

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

All Investors Who Started in 1922 Paid in Dividends So Far $50.64 on Each $100

Home owners in Brainerd, made possible through the Brainerd Building and Loan Association, increased from 82 in 1928 to 131 in 1929. S. R. Adair, president reported in his statement at the annual meeting of the association last evening.

His report shows that the association enjoyed an exceptionally good year.

Election of officers and three members to the board of directors for a term of three years follows:

President—S. R. Adair.
First Vice President—E. L. Dahl.
Second Vice President—John Carlson.

Secretary—Wm. Nelson.
Treasurer—Henry Krause.
Directors—E. L. Dahl, Jos. A. Krause and Paul H. Schultz.

The report made by Mr. Adair follows:

To The Stock Holders of The Brainerd Building & Loan Ass'n.

Friends:

It is a pleasure to review the past year of our association. Our home owners have increased from 82 in 1928 to 131 in 1929, our mortgage loans from $127,087.62 to $199,835.00, an increase of $72,747.00, and our reserve or contingent fund from $1,242.02 to $1,762.71. This fund is created by setting aside each year 5 percent of the gross earnings.

It is sometimes hard to realize what our association means to the city of Brainerd in home building. If we would place the Brainerd Building & Loan Association homes in continuous rows on each side of a street, each home having 50 ft. front, it would mean, with the intersecting streets, 3155 ft. of solid homes, "Nearly One Mile of Homes."

The association was organized in 1922 and has grown steadily and now has resources of over $200,000.00. It paid dividends of 6 1/2 percent in 1922, 1923 and 1924; 6 1/2 percent in 1925 and 1926, and 7 percent in 1927, 1928 and 1929. To all investors who started with us in 1922 we have paid in dividends up to Dec. 31, 1929, $50.64 on each $100 invested.

Our installment stock offers a splendid way to acquire the thrift habit, and should be taken advantage of by those wishing to systematically make monthly savings. $1.00 per month for 6 1/2 years with the compounding interest will save for them $100.00. $10.00 per month will save $1,000.

Tonight we have the very important duty to elect three members to serve on the board of directors for a term of three years. The terms of directors E. L. Dahl, Jos. A. Krause and Paul H. Schultz expire and for your information will say that these members have given faithful service to the association during their terms of office.

In conclusion may I say, the affairs of the association are in splendid shape, and I feel that much credit is due our capable secretary, William Nelson.

After disposing of reports and election of officers the meeting will be open to general discussion.

BLIND LAKE

Dan Dauber helped Nils Anderson butcher last week.

Those motoring to Brainerd on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shepard, Alfred Wickham, Harry McKeebe, Miss Fern Dauber and Enoch Mayer.

Alfred Wickham had the misfortune last week of having his car crashed into by a traveling man who was coming from Akeley. None were hurt, but the Wickham car was put out of commission.

Enoch Mayer was employed Saturday afternoon and evening at one of the barber shops in Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Robideau motored to Pine River Saturday afternoon where they visited until Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Hough and James Wickham called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wickham on Sunday afternoon. James Wickham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wickham, and is now employed at the Hough farm.

Mrs. E. Peterson visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Fick at Pine River on Monday.

L. O. Fick and daughter, Ernest Fick, Lyle Ellis, Fred Dauber, Harry McKeebe, Miss Fern Dauber and Miss Helen Anderson attended the movies at Pine River Sunday evening.

Dan Dauber has purchased some rabbits for his fur farm.

Mrs. Ernest Robideau is on the sick list this week.

In some unknown manner the Pine River high school caught on fire on Monday evening. The large curtains in the assembly room were burned before the fire was put out. Several books were damaged by water.

TO DRAW NEW CITY JURY FROM 100

Names to be Selected From Election List by Municipal Judge, Mayor and City Clerk

The drawing of 100 names from the city election list of bonafide Brainerd residents for the municipal court jury panel will take place tomorrow.

In charge of the drawing will be J. H. Warner, judge of municipal court, Mayor Frank E. Little and City Clerk Mrs. E. T. Fleener.

A new panel for municipal court cases is necessary at this time because of the depletion of citizens on the former panel drawn four years ago.

NORTH NOKAY LAKE

Leon Bock visited at Mandery's Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson and children visited at Thom Thorsen's Friday night.

There was a card party at the Fortune home Saturday night. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Richards, Mrs. Rognaldson and sons and Miss Myrtle Rognaldson, Miss Gladys Nelson, John, Thomas and Peter Nelson, Mr. Gurney, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson and children and Cecil Strang. The evening was spent in playing 500, the winners receiving lovely prizes. Afterwards a delicious luncheon was served.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peterson Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Johnson of Bay Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Carney Peterson of Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Olson and children spent Sunday at the C. J. Klippenes home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanson and children visited at Bordwell's Sunday.

The town board have acquired one of the Allen snow plows which is propelled by a car. Roy Cook is the operator.

Milk Pasteurization

The Department of Agriculture says that the total plant loss in handling milk should not be over 2 per cent. Many plants have it less than 1 per cent. The loss of handling milk through pasteurization depends entirely upon the type of apparatus used. If the vats are not exposed, there should be no loss. If the exposed system is used, the loss should not exceed 1 per cent.

Mother! Do You Know the Danger of A Cough from Colds?

Mother, if the youngsters play hard and "take cold," if for any of a dozen other reasons they get "sick with a cold," stop it as fast as you can. Don't let it hang on. Colds that stay and stay, too often weaken the system and lead into some serious sickness.

If any of your youngsters develop a cough from a cold that hangs on, use sensible precautions immediately and give them Creomulsion. Help their strong, youthful bodies to fight coughs from colds with Creomulsion. It is pleasant, easy to take.

Creomulsion is an old remedy now. Millions know its merits and like it. We guarantee that it will relieve coughs from colds, or we'll refund your money.

The meeting is called by Mayor Frank E. Little who will also preside.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET

Miss Helen Horr, Field Secretary, to Talk on League's Legislative Program

The League of Women Voters will hold the first meeting of 1930 at the home of the new president, Mrs. J. J. Cummins, 716 South Sixth street, on Thursday, January 30. Miss Helen Horr, who succeeds Miss Begin as field secretary, will be present and give a talk on the League's study and legislative program for the year.

Before the general meeting, the board will hold a short business meeting, beginning at 2:30 o'clock at which Miss Horr will be present and act in the capacity of advisor. The general meeting will be called about 3:15 o'clock. After Miss Horr's talk, the radio talk from WCCO will constitute the second half of the general program, after which all members who wish will attend the Presbyterian supper at the church parlors and return to the home of Mrs. Cummins for discussion and a social evening.

All who wish reservations made for the supper are requested to telephone Mrs. Dean White as early as possible.

All the members of the league and any who wish to become members are cordially invited to attend this meeting to meet Miss Horr and hear her speak.

BRAINERD B. & L. HAS FINE RECORD

Home Owners, Made Possible by Association, Increase From 82 to 131 in Year

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

All Investors Who Started in 1922 Paid in Dividends so Far $50.64 on Each $100

Home owners in Brainerd, made possible through the Brainerd Building and Loan Association, increased from 82 in 1928 to 131 in 1929, S. R. Adair, president reported in his statement at the annual meeting of the association last evening.

His report shows that the association enjoyed an exceptionally good year.

Election of officers and three members to the board of directors for a term of three years follows:

President—S. R. Adair.
First Vice President—E. L. Dahl.
Second Vice President—John Carlson.

Secretary—Wm. Nelson.
Treasurer—Henry Krause.
Directors—E. L. Dahl, Jos. A. Krause and Paul H. Schultz.

The report made by Mr. Adair follows:

To The Stock Holders of The Brainerd Building & Loan Ass'n.

Friends:

It is a pleasure to review the past year of our association. Our home owners have increased from 82 in 1928 to 131 in 1929, our mortgage loans from $127,087.62 to $199,835.00, an increase of $72,747.00, and our reserve or contingent fund from $1,242.02 to $1,762.71. This fund is created by setting aside each year 5 percent of the gross earnings.

It is sometimes hard to realize what our association means to the city of Brainerd in home building. If we would place the Brainerd Building & Loan Association homes in continuous rows on each side of a street, each home having 50 ft. front, it would mean, with the intersecting streets, 5155 ft. of solid homes, "Nearly One Mile of Homes."

The association was organized in 1922 and has grown steadily and now has resources of over $200,000.00. It paid dividends of 6 1/2 percent in 1922, 1923 and 1924; 6 1/2 percent in 1925 and 1926, and 7 percent in 1927, 1928 and 1929. To all investors who started with us in 1922 we have paid in dividends up to Dec. 31, 1929, $50.64 on each $100 invested.

Our installment stock offers a splendid way to acquire the thrift habit, and should be taken advantage of by those wishing to systematically make monthly savings. $1.00 per month for 6 1/2 years with the compounding interest will save for them $100.00. $10.00 per month will save $1,000.

Tonight we have the very important duty to elect three members to serve on the board of directors for a term of three years. The terms of directors E. L. Dahl, Jos. A. Krause and Paul H. Schultz expire and for your information will say that these members have given faithful service to the association during their terms of office.

In conclusion may I say, the affairs of the association are in splendid shape, and I feel that much credit is due our capable secretary, William Nelson.

After disposing of reports and election of officers the meeting will be open to general discussion.

BLIND LAKE

Dan Dauber helped Nils Anderson butcher last week.

Those motoring to Brainerd on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shepard, Alfred Wickham, Harry McKeebe, Miss Fern Dauber and Enoch Mayer.

Alfred Wickham had the misfortune last week of having his car crashed into by a traveling man who was coming from Akeley. None were hurt, but the Wickham car was put out of commission.

Enoch Mayer was employed Saturday afternoon and evening at one of the barber shops in Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Robideau motored to Pine River Saturday afternoon where they visited until Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Hough and James Wickham called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wickham on Sunday afternoon. James Wickham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wickham, and is now employed at the Hough farm.

Mrs. E. Peterson visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Pick at Pine River on Monday.

L. O. Fick and daughter, Ernest Fick, Lyle Ellis, Fred Dauber, Harry McKeebe, Miss Fern Dauber and Miss Helen Anderson attended the movies at Pine River Sunday evening.

Dan Dauber has purchased some rabbits for his fur farm.

Mrs. Ernest Robideau is on the sick list this week.

In some unknown manner the Pine River high school caught on fire on Monday evening. The large curtains in the assembly room were burned before the fire was put out. Several books were damaged by water.

Longer Life Possible

As Sir William Arbuthnot Lane has said: "Humans are like motor cars. Length of life depends entirely on the care taken of the 'works,' and when people take proper care of themselves we shall soon have them living beyond the hundred-year mark, as the simple living Zulus do."

TO DRAW NEW CITY JURY FROM 100

Names to be Selected From Election List by Municipal Judge, Mayor and City Clerk

The drawing of 100 names from the city election list of bonafide Brainerd residents for the municipal court jury panel will take place tomorrow.

In charge of the drawing will be J. H. Warner, judge of municipal court, Mayor Frank E. Little and City Clerk Mrs. E. T. Fleener.

A new panel for municipal court cases is necessary at this time because of the depletion of citizens on the former panel drawn four years ago.

NORTH NOKAY LAKE

Leon Eock visited at Mandery's Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson and children visited at Thom Thorson's Friday night.

There was a card party at the Fortune home Saturday night. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Richards, Mrs. Rogstadson and sons and Miss Myrtle Rogstadson, Miss Gladys Nelson, John, Thomas and Peter Nelson, Mr. Gurney, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson and children and Cecil Strang. The evening was spent in playing 500, the winners receiving lovely prizes. Afterwards a delicious luncheon was served.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peterson Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Johnson of Bay Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Carney Peterson of Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Olson and children spent Sunday at the C. J. Klippenes home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanson and children visited at Bordwell's Sunday.

The town board have acquired one of the Allen snow plows which is propelled by a car. Roy Cook is the operator.

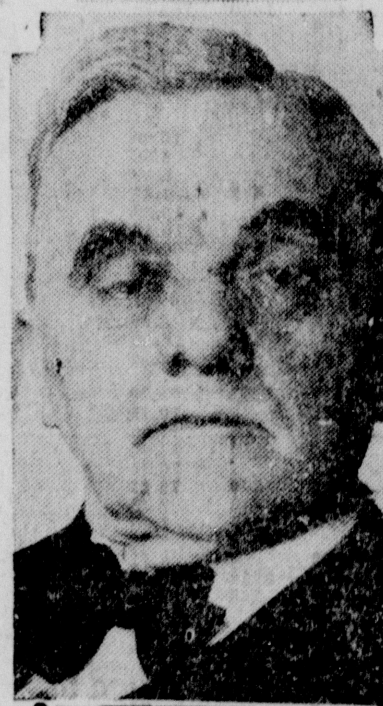

Milk Pasteurization

The Department of Agriculture says that the total plant loss in handling milk should not be over 2 percent. Many plants have it less than 1 percent. The loss of handling milk through pasteurization depends entirely upon the type of apparatus used. If the vats are not exposed, there should be no loss. If the exposed system is used, the loss should not exceed 1 percent.

Mother! Do You Know the Danger of A Cough from Colds?

Mother, if the youngsters play hard and "take cold," if for any of a dozen other reasons they get "sick with a cold," stop it as fast as you can. Don't let it hang on. Colds that stay and stay, too often weaken the system and lead into some serious sickness. If any of your youngsters develop a cough from a cold that hangs on, use sensible precautions immediately and give them Creomulsion. Help their strong, youthful bodies to fight coughs from colds with Creomulsion. It is pleasant, easy to take. Creomulsion is an old remedy now. Millions know its merits and like it. We guarantee that it will relieve coughs from colds, or we'll refund your money.

Move to Bar Norris From G. O. P. Ballot

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska who has been challenged to prove his Republicanism and his right to a place on the Nebraska primary ballot as a member of that party. The challenge is in the form of a protest against his candidacy for renomination which has been filed with Secretary of State Marsh by Willard Clapp of Elmwood, a well known Republican. The action comes as a result of Senator Norris' years of insurgency in congress.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET

Miss Helen Horr, Field Secretary, to Talk on League's Legislative Program

The League of Women Voters will hold the first meeting of 1930 at the home of the new president, Mrs. J. J. Cummins, 716 South Sixth street, on Thursday, January 30. Miss Helen Horr, who succeeds Miss Begin as field secretary, will be present and give a talk on the League's study and legislative program for the year.

Before the general meeting, the board will hold a short business meeting, beginning at 2:30 o'clock at which Miss Horr will be present and act in the capacity of advisor. The general meeting will be called about 3:15 o'clock. After Miss Horr's talk, the radio talk from WCCO will constitute the second half of the general program, after which all members who wish will attend the Presbyterian supper at the church parlors and return to the home of Mrs. Cummins for discussion and a social evening.

All who wish reservations made for the supper are requested to telephone Mrs. Dean White as early as possible.

All the members of the league and any who wish to become members are cordially invited to attend this meeting to meet Miss Horr and hear her speak.

MILLER LAKE

One of our pioneer residents, Mrs. Otto Anderson has been ill this winter but is much improved lately.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Frahm and daughter Vera visited Will DeMars of Garrison Sunday.

Geo. McCalvy who had his foot badly scalded during the Christmas holidays, is doing fine.

Dave Soderlund and family with Mrs. Chas. Carlson spent Sunday at August Soderlund's home.

Mr. Long, formerly of Merrillfield has moved on the old Gergen farm and put up a saw mill with planer and bath mill. Will commence sawing the first of March.

Sam Varner has been helping Bert Allen with carpenter work.

Dorothy and Eva McCalvy were in a car accident. When returning from Grand Rapids to Muskegon where they are working the car skidded on the slippery road and threw the occupants out seriously injuring some. Dorothy had her back hurt and Eva was badly bruised though no bones broken.

Noted Anachronisms

Several anachronisms, or misplacements in time of events or things are present in Shakespeare. For instance, he makes King Lear, an early Anglo-Saxon king, speak of not wanting spectacles, which were not known until the fourteenth century.
